

It is imperative that corporations be limited to their ability to control the media. The current Middle East crisis is a prime example of the way the public can be manipulated by media. I have not spent much time understanding the FCC and would hope that those who have a better understanding can see the brink that our country is currently on, as a result of media. I also feel it is important that a general voice of the people be given access to the public. I find it so odd that I know of no one who supports the government's war on Iraq, but when I watch the news it is as if we have all decided. The country is being brainwashed by the media.
